Seventh Sunday after Pentecost;
Commemoration of the Holy Great-Martyr and Unmercenary Physician, Panteleimon

(3rd Class, 6th Tone, 7th Eothinon)

ORTHROS

TROPARION OF THE RESURRECTION (Tone 6) [Twice]

The angelic Powers were around Your tomb, and the guards became as dead; and Mary stood at the tomb seeking Your spotless body. Then You despoiled Hades without being tried by it, and You met the Virgin, O Bestower of Life! O Lord who rose from the dead, glory to You!

v. Glory to the Father and to the Son and to the Holy Spirit,

TROPARION OF PANTELEIMON (Tone 3)

O holy, victorious healer Panteleimon, intercede with the Merciful God that He may grant our souls the forgiveness of sins.

- now and always and to the ages of ages. Amen.

RESURRECTIONAL THEOTOKION (Tone 3)

We praise you, O Virgin Theotokos, mediatrix of our salvation; for your Son, our God, who suffered on the Cross in the flesh which was taken from you, redeemed us from corruption; for He is the Lover of Mankind.

SESSIONAL HYMNS (Tone 1)

Following the faith of your mother, blessed one, you reverently corrected the impiety of your father; thus, illustrious martyr Panteleimon, you received from the all-powerful God the power to heal the illnesses of the sick who approach you in the fervor of their faith.

v. Glory to the Father and to the Son and to the Holy Spirit, now and always and to the ages of ages. Amen.

O all-holy Virgin, hope of Christians, ceaselessly intercede together with the powers on high before the God whom you ineffably have borne, that he grant to us all the remission of our sins and amendment of life to all who glorify you wholeheartedly.

Today the Polyeleos is sung instead of the Evlogitaria of the Resurrection.

SESSIONAL HYMNS AFTER THE POLYELEOS (Tone 4)

Today the whole world celebrates your holy struggles, O martyr Panteleimon, glorifying the living God who willed to make you a fervent protector for us, the faithful.

v. Glory to the Father and to the Son and to the Holy Spirit, now and always and to the ages of ages. Amen.

Stretch out your spotless hands, O Virgin Mother of God: protect those who trust in you, imploring your Son as they say: "Send Your mercy down upon us, O Lord!"

After Psalm 50:

v. Glory to the Father and to the Son and to the Holy Spirit,

Through the intercession of Your martyr, O Merciful One, wipe out the multitude of our sins.

v. now and always and to the ages of ages. Amen.

Through the intercession of the Theotokos, O Merciful One, wipe out the multitude of our sins.

v. O God, have mercy on me in the greatness of Your love; in the abundance of you tender mercies, wipe out my offense.

(Tone 2)

O Panteleimon, divine physician, entreat the compassionate Christ to save me from the passions and to take pity on me.

EXAPOSTILARIA (Tone 2)

~Jewel of the unmercenary wonderworkers, Panteleimon, glory of the holy martyrs and of all Christians: grant victory to your people from Heaven; grant peace to the world and salvation to the faithful who sing to you; for, in company with the Mother of God, you intercede for us all.

PRAISES (Tone 6)

Stichera of the Resurrection (Tone 6)

8. O Lord, Your Cross is Life and Resurrection for Your people. Having placed our hope in it, we sing praise to You and say: "O our risen God, have mercy on us!"
7. O Master, Your tomb has opened the gates of Paradise to the human race. Having been delivered from Death, we sing praise to You and say: "O our risen God, have mercy on us!"
6. With the Father and the Spirit, let us glorify Christ who is risen from among the dead. Let us cry aloud to Him: "You are our Life and our Resurrection: have mercy on us!"
5. On the third day You have risen from the tomb, according to the Scriptures, O Christ! You raised up our first father with You. The whole human race glorifies You and sings of Your holy Resurrection!

Stichera of Anatolios the Patriarch

4. Great and awesome, O Lord, is the mystery of Your holy Resurrection: You have come forth from the tomb as a Bridegroom from the bridal chamber. You have trampled down Death in order to set Adam free. Thus the angels rejoice in Heaven; and we on earth glorify Your great mercy to us in Your love for mankind.

Stichera for Panteleimon (Tone 8)

3. Imitating the mercy of God, O Panteleimon, you deserve your name which corresponds to the nature of your deeds: for you showed mercy to all, granting them a double healing. You calm and care for their sufferings, while you lead them to the divine and radiant knowledge of Christ.

2. Clearly, all that befell you was the work of Providence from on high: for, having learned to care for the sufferings of the body, O Panteleimon, you became a prompt physician of souls. You deliver from the darkness of error by the word of grace, as you heal those who have recourse to you.
1. O wise in God, you have developed spiritual splendor and magnificence of heart in keeping with your physical beauty. You amazed those who beheld you, O holy martyr, for you shone with wondrous miracles while possessing the intelligence of an elder, although still in the flower of your youth. In you have shown forth both grace and faith.
- v. Glory to the Father and to the Son and to the Holy Spirit,

Doxastikon (Tone 4)

Today has dawned the memorial of the martyr. Come, O faithful, let us rejoice in spirit, crowning him with hymns; for, by the power of the Cross, he has bravely overcome the bodiless Enemy. Fearless before the many torments of the executioners, he fought the good fight and received the prize for his divine calling. Now he exults with the angels forever. O martyr of Christ, Panteleimon, physician for the sick and calm harbor for the shipwrecked: never cease to intercede before the compassionate God for the salvation of our souls.

- now and forever and to the ages of ages. Amen.

Theotokion

Save your servants from all dangers, O Mother of God and blessed Virgin, that we may glorify you as the hope of our souls.
